

cabbagetown's first nuit blanche - Sat. Oct. 4 2008 7pm-7am

Nuit Blanche is an all night celebration of contemporary art held city wide for one night, and for the first time including Cabbagetown and its contemporary artists. For one sleepless night, experience Cabbagetown transformed by 14 artists. Discover art in parks, alleyways, on streets, in parking lots and unexpected places. From sunset at 7:00 pm on Sat. Oct. 4, to sunrise at 7:00 am on Sun., Cabbagetown & across the city, will be bustling with activity as thousands experience an amazing full night of contemporary art and performance. Contact us at cabbagetownnuitblanche@gmail.com to volunteer, donate or to get involved. www.cabbagetownnuitblanche.ca to see the artists and art.

- 1 Parliament St.
Cabbagetown Nuit Blanche Information
- 2 Parliament & Winchester
"Project Beacon", William Hudson, constructing a hive
- 3 Parliament St., Liquor store parking lot
A Return to Hugh Garner's Cabbagetown, reading
Michael Ondaatje, Paul Thompson, Lena McDonald
- 4 514 Parliament St., Toronto Centre, Community Action Centre
"Art Heart", Exhibit of Children's & Adult's Art
- 5 509 Parliament St., Canadian Childrens Dance Theatre
"Carousel", Interactive Movement, Andrea Nann
- 6 Begins on Parliament St. continues on various streets
"Outside drawings", Justine Dart
- 7 Carlton St. near Parliament, Avant Garde Film Event
"No One Sleeps", Francois Aubrey, Jenn Kalinowski
- 8 Carlton St. at Parliament
"Red Door", All night Mural, Ryan Dineen, Misha Hunter
- 9 Parliament St.
"The Ghost of Shakespeare", Christopher Roberts
- 10 Carlton & Sumach, Riverdale Farm Park
"Poet Tree", Kelly Rogers, deconstructing poetry with wind
- 11 Riverdale park, bottom of the hill
"Light House", video dance installation, Brian T. Moore
- 12 Wellesley Park, end of Amelia St., Mixed media
"Currents", Nina Bunjevack, Andy Townsend, Perry & Michael White
- 13 80 Winchester St. at Metcalfe, Interactive dance
"Crank the Winch", Tara Gaucher & Sarah McQueston
- 14 Rose Ave. south of Wellesley, Letterpress prints
"Opposites Attract", Deborah Barnett, Aaron Benson

